The problem is that the file name contains space. That's a problem for me: This is the request: curl -X POST -H "Content-Type:application/octet-stream" -F "file=@/sdcard/firts_file_name.txt" "" I handle the request by creating an object which has a few parameters (host, username, password, path, timeout, port etc.) and then using this object to create a request. public static Request createRequest(@NonNull final String requestHost, @NonNull final String requestUser, @NonNull final String requestPassword, @NonNull final String requestPath, @NonNull final Request.Builder requestBuilder) throws IOException { if (requestUser == null || requestPassword == null) { throw new IllegalStateException("User and password can't be null"); } final OkHttpClient client = createOkHttpClient(); // need to fix a problem with NTLM authentication if host is different than requested client.setCredentials(new AuthCache() { 3da54e8ca3
